```
Observables
Arrays
                                                        const data$ = from([1, 2, 3, 4]);
 const data = [1, 2, 3, 4];
 data.filter(v => v \% 2)
                                                        data$.pipe(
      .map(v => v + 1)
                                                              filter(v \Rightarrow v \% 2),
       .reduce((res, v) => res + v, 0);
                                                              map(v => v + 1),
                                                                   reduce((res, v) => res + v, 0) // 6
                                                        data$.subscribe(res=> console.log(res));
                                                        // 6
```

RXJS provide more than 100

Operators to handle Sync/Async process